Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings was an American writer who lived in rural Florida and wrote novels with rural themes and settings. Her best-known work, The Yearling, about a boy who adopts an orphaned fawn, won a Pulitzer Prize for fiction in 1939 and was later made into a movie of the same name. Marjorie Rawlings Historical State Park is 31 miles from the rally and the Yearling Restaurant is about a mile from the park.

Membership Enhancement Musings

Jeanette Carr, Membership Enhancement

RALLY TIME of YEAR!

Riding brought us (FL1-K members) together and keeps us “rolling”, but the social aspect of our group also keeps us close, laughing, and young. Ed and I are excited about the 3 rallies we will attend this month but not sure if we’ll have more wacky outfits like these in the past. Still – you never know!

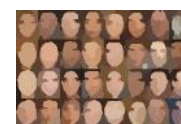

“Dressing up” has been a part of my life since the 1st Indian dress I made as part of my 1970 kindergarten’s class November lessons. My co-worker & I accented our monthly units with other outfits during the years - Pilgrim/Indian. Lassie/Laddie. Elf/Mrs. Claus. Etc.

Ed and I continued the tradition with coordinated outfits of country western wear during the 1st ten dancing years of our marriage. Then, we got involved with rally themes and outfits. We have one whole closet filled with outfits. Hmm? Should we start a costume store?

Think about when you might want to dress up at one of our chapter gatherings (see below) and also be thinking of the FL March Rally with the 50’s/60’s/70’s TV Show Theme. Maybe we can come up with a chapter skip!

FUTURE FUN EVENTS

- HALLOWEN PARTY: Oct. 9 Chapter Gathering @ I-Hop in Palm Coast. Dress up or just wear a chapter shirt. We have done this for years and it is always a fun time for us and the other patrons in the restaurant.
- CHAPTER GROUP PHOTO: Nov. 11 Chapter Gathering @ I-Hop. Gary will take the photo and put it on our chapter web site. We hope all our 52+ members will be there.
- CHRISTMAS PARTY: Dec. 2, Saturday. This is a “bring a covered dish” event at the club house in Carr’s neighborhood. The chapter provides meat, water/tea/coffe, & table service.
- UGLY SWEATER NIGHT: Dec. 11, Chapter Gathering @ I-Hop. Come and participate or just enjoy the sights.

ARCTIC CIRCLE and/or BUST

I recently completed a motorcycle trip to the Arctic Circle in Alaska. I thought I would share my observations and experiences about the trip for those of you who might be considering such a ride. The “Alaska Highway” starts in Dawson Creek, British Columbia to Fairbanks Alaska and the “Dalton Highway” starts in Fairbanks Alaska and goes all the way to the Arctic Circle. (About 200 miles of unpaved road.)

It was on my bucket list: Ride to the Arctic Circle north of Fairbanks, Alaska, take the photo of the “Arctic Circle” sign, and return. It was a trip I was glad I took and a trip I will never do again. 6,100 miles in 14 days starting in Livingston, Montana. (We trailered the bikes from Florida to a friend’s house in Montana, unloaded the bikes, and the bike trip began.) The average day ride was 435 miles. The roads were in the worst condition I had ever ridden on. I rode my Kawasaki Versys 1000 and not my Honda Gold Wing and was glad I had done so. I was accompanied by my good friend, Jeff Brunelle, who was riding his Yamaha 1200 Super Tenere and not his Gold Wing. There were many riders along the way on Gold Wings and touring Harley Davidsons.

It was not that a larger bike like those can’t make the trip, it is just the risk of doing some real damage to those types of bikes is too great. There were some places we rode that bigger streets bike could not safely traverse. There were times we were struggling to keep the adventure bikes upright and that was the type of terrain the adventure bikes were made for. I think if I were to attempt the trip again it would be on a smaller Enduro Dirt Bike. At one of our stops on the way through Canada we met two guys who were trailering two Yamaha TW200s Enduro Bikes. We should have taken that as a clue as to what type of riding conditions we were about to experience.

There were several different types of roads we encountered: Smooth paved asphalt, asphalt rough gravel mix, soft asphalt over dirt, soft dirt that when wet was like riding on ice, hard packed dirt, rough gravel dirt mix, and loose large gravel which was very dusty. (It was like riding in a London fog. We could no longer see the road in front of us or anything else for that matter until the dust settled.) We got to hate seeing “orange signs”. An orange sign meant trouble ahead. (We saw many such signs.) Sometimes the sign just meant a new patch job ahead. Sometimes the orange sign meant miles of dirt and gravel road. Sinkholes under the blacktop were common with fissures big enough they could swallow your front wheel. There were many “follow me” construction trucks to lead us through the active construction areas. They often drove much faster than we could safely ride on across the loose terrain. I concluded that Canadians and Alaskans must have much better eyesight than we do in the lower US. All of the road signs were about 1/3 of the size we are used to reading. In order to read them I often had to slow down to do so.

We saw much of the native wildlife. Most of which were chipmunks running across the road in front of us much like squirrels do. This happened about 19 ½ times. (If you get my meaning: poor chipmunk.) We saw mountain goats, deer, caribou, moose, a grizzly bear, two black bears, antelope, porcupines, a red fox, a white eagle (extremely rare), buffalo, very large crows, and some very friendly stray dogs looking for a hand out (I complied). There was one interesting black bear encounter.

I rounded a curve where there was a solid granite mountain to my left and a metal guard rail to my right. A large black bear was walking right down the middle of the road in a head on path towards me. I had to come to a complete stop. I was anticipation a quick U-turn to get away from the bear but he decided to hop over the guard rail. (Another reason to learn how to do a U-turn which is not usually covered in a Basic Rider Course.) There was a bit of an adrenaline rush there.

The Canadian Rockies from Calgary to Jasper were beautiful with good roads. On our return trip from Alaska we choose to try Route 37 instead of the Alaska Highway. It started at the Yukon border with British Columbia and went south ending in Smithers, BC. It was a much more enjoyable, curvy, and mostly paved road with little construction.

There was no phone cell service many times. Not having phone service sometimes lasted for hours and sometimes as much as 100 miles. We brought a satellite phone which we had to use a couple of times. Not having cell service also meant not having phone GPS capabilities to find a gas station or food. We carried an extra 2 gallons of gas on each bike which we had to use once. Gas up and get food at every opportunity.

So there you have it. Would I recommend taking the trip? Definitely “Yes”. Would I recommend doing it on a large fancy bike you care about? Definitely “NO!”

Ride safe and watch out for hazards,

Dominick & Diane

Hello From The Road

Hello from the road. Julie and I are slowly making our way to the Rendezvous Rally in Knoxville TN.

We started on the road the 24th of August in our RV, trailering our Gold Wing Trike. Our first overnight stop was Beaufort SC at the Hwy 21 Drive-In. Fun time enjoying a movie outside on the big screen.

The following night we stopped at the Peach State Aerodrome in Williston GA. When we got to the Aerodrome, two Army Blackhawk UH/HH-60's were getting ready to depart. They must have landed for lunch at the Barnstormers Restaurant.

The next day, after a good breakfast and watching aircraft arriving and departing, we headed for our next stop. Mid afternoon we set up at Lake Oconee / Greensboro KOA Holiday North Shore Landing RV Park for a week of relaxing.

As of this writing, we are sitting out the storm from Hurricane Idalia. Our plan is to depart early the next morning and head towards TN for the Rally.

This month, we'll also be attending the "Fall Mountain Ride and Camp Reunion", GA Rally, in Dillard. The end of the month we'll be attending the "Western Round Up", Alabama Rally at Lakepoint State Park.

Here's some history on Julie and Bob as your new Assistant Chapter directors.

Bob was born in Buffalo NY and raised in Tonawanda NY. Julie was born in Fort Benning GA and raised in Monterey California.

We are both retired Navy, Julie served 22 years and retired as a Chief (E-7) Yeoman. Bob served 30 years and retired as a Masterchief (E-9) Aviation Electrician.

Julie stayed retired while Bob worked for BAE Systems as a Retrofit Coordinator for P-3 Orion aircraft. Years later joining Government Service for the Department of the Navy, finally retiring this past April.

We joined GWRRA in 2005 and have held numerous positions in our Maryland Chapter, District, and Region B.

After we moved to Florida, we found our new home with Eagle Wings and FL1-K.

Next month, our plans include a "family vacation" in Gateway Mountain GA and then we'll wrap up the year at the "Let's Soar", Mississippi Rally in Biloxi.

On The Lighter Side

A State Trooper pulled an 87 yr old woman over for No Fenders. As he looked at her driver's license he was surprised to notice that attached to it was a concealed weapons permit ~ Taken aback, he couldn't help but ask if she had a gun in her possession ~ She replied in her crackly voice that she indeed did have a 45 automatic in her glove compartment ~ The trooper then asked if she had any other weapons to which she replied that she also had a 9mm Glock in her center console~ The shocked trooper asked if that was all and the little old lady held up her purse and replied ~Well, I do keep a 38 special in my purse ~Finally the astonished trooper asked with a smirk ~What are you afraid of ??? And the little old lady smiled and replied

~~Not a Damm thing!

A man came home from work and found his three children outside, still in their pajamas, playing in the mud, with empty food boxes and wrappers strewn all around the front yard. The door of his wife's car was open, as was the front door to the house and there was no sign of the dog.

Proceeding into the entry, he found an even bigger mess. A lamp had been knocked over, and the throw rug was wadded against one wall. In the front room the TV was loudly blaring a cartoon channel, and the family room was strewn with toys and various items of clothing. In the kitchen, dishes filled the sink, breakfast food was spilled on the counter, the fridge door was open wide, dog food was spilled on the floor, a broken glass lay under the table, and a small pile of sand was spread by the back door.

He quickly headed up the stairs, stepping over toys and more piles of clothes, looking for his wife. He was worried she might be ill, or that something serious had happened. He was met with a small trickle of water as it made its way out the bathroom door. As he peered inside he found wet towels, scummy soap and more toys strewn over the floor. Miles of toilet paper lay in a heap and toothpaste had been smeared over the mirror and walls.

As he rushed to the bedroom, he found his wife still curled up in the bed in her pajamas, reading a novel. She looked up at him, smiled, and asked how his day went. He looked at her bewildered and asked, 'What happened here today?'

She again smiled and answered, "You know every day when you come home from work and you ask me what in the world I do all day?"

"Yes," was his incredulous reply.

She answered, "Well, today I didn't do it!"

A Florida State trooper pulled a car over on I-10 about 62 miles west of Kerrville Texas. When the trooper asked the driver why he was speeding, the driver said he was a Magician and Juggler and was on his way to West Texas to do a show for the Shrine Circus. He didn't want to be late.

The trooper told the driver he was fascinated by juggling and said if the driver would do a little juggling for him then he wouldn't give him a ticket. He told the trooper he had sent his equipment ahead and didn't have anything to juggle.

The trooper said he had some flares in the trunk and asked if he could juggle them. The juggler said he could, so the trooper got 5 flares, lit them and handed them to him.

While the man was juggling, a car pulled in behind the State Troopers car. A drunken good old boy from Ingram Texas got out, watched the performance, then went over to the Trooper's car, opened the rear door and got in. The trooper observed him and went over to the State car, opened the door asking the drunk what he thought he was doing.

The drunk replied, "You might as well take my butt to jail, because there isn't no way I can pass that test."

Even though there are days you wish you could change some things that happened in the past, there is a reason the rear view mirror is so small and the windshield is so big, where you are headed is much more important than what you left behind.
